WELLNESS SCIENCE NEWS

SUMMER 2010 EDITION

NEW GROUP OF DOCTORS EARN DISTINCTIVE C.C.W.P. CERTIFICATION!

A new group of doctors were recently awarded the distinctive C.C.W.P. certification designation, with individuals practicing in a range of locations. These Doctors of Chiropractic, having completed their program coursework, home study module assignments, and other requisites, also passed a comprehensive final examination administered through the ICA Council on Wellness Science through an online testing system. This new class of newly certified doctors will be included in the highlighted listings in two sections of the ICA Sciences Councils Referral Directory, along with the other C.C.W.P. doctors who have maintained their credentialing for listing in the Wellness Science Membership Referral Directory.

"The C.C.W.P. Certification gives practitioners practical research and science-based data in a growing field that is increasingly relevant because it addresses important health issues in a context where chiropractors already do excel," notes ICA President, Gary L. Walsemann. The multi-faceted seminar program is offered at multiple locations through the International Chiropractors Association (ICA) who works in partnership with Life Chiropractic College West, an internationally acclaimed chiropractic college, to present the educational program and administer the continuing education component of the seminars.

"These doctors are uniquely equipped to fill an important lifestyle and public health gap in their communities by becoming a sound, authoritative source of evidence-based wellness living strategies," notes Dr. James Chestnut, who developed the certification program curriculum and teaches modules in the seminar series. "This C.C.W.P. credential recognizes these doctors' accomplishments in successfully completing the demanding course work and examination process for this special credential designation."

Doctors receiving C.C.W.P. Certified Chiropractic Wellness Practitioner credentials in this Final Examination cycle include the following individuals:

- Roger De Sesa, D.C., C.C.W.P.
- Stanton Hom, D.C., C.C.W.P.
- Cash W. Lewis, D.C., C.C.W.P.
- Kathryn J. Mead, D.C., C.C.W.P.
- David Otto, D.C., C.C.W.P.
- Kurt H. Schagen, D.C., C.C.W.P.
- Michael Schnider, D.C., C.C.W.P.
- Jamie L. Settimi, D.C., C.C.W.P.
- Giles Stifter, D.C., C.C.W.P.
- Christopher Wasson, D.C., C.C.W.P.
- Kym Arthur Williams, D.C., C.C.W.P.

WELLNESS COUNCIL REFERRAL DIRECTORY EXPANDS ITS REACH:

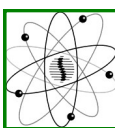

The ICA Council on Wellness Science membership database is a featured component of the growing outreach resources through the International Chiropractors Association website at www.chiropractic.org and other outlets, and is a highlighted element of the International Chiropractors Association Science Councils Referral Directory system. Features now include regional and alphabetical search tools plus time zone conversion links for different locations around the globe. The Wellness Council Membership Referral Directory includes regional listings for member doctors plus highlighted directory features for those holding the CCWP certification — accessible through the Council web pages at www.chiropractic.org/wellness.

NEW FAQ: ON WELLNESS AND C.C.W.P.!

Additional Q&A resources are in preparation for enhanced combinations of professional and patient informational initiatives on wellness education, certification, and patient/community resources to help inform, inspire, and update more people in making constructive lifestyle changes and understanding the impact of their choices.

Wellness Certification Exam Cycles Underway for 2010!

The Certification Final Examination for the C.C.W.P. credential is administered in testing cycles over the year for candidates who completed their program requisites. The online exam's dates for 2010 work continue to launch in three testing cycles, administered as Spring, Fall, and Winter cycles. For more information visit the Certification updates posted on the web, check the FAQ's, or email any additional questions to wellness@chiropractic.org.
