INFORMATION AND APPLICATION FOR STUDENT ICA MEMBERSHIP:

The International Chiropractors Association is the oldest national chiropractic organization in the world. Established in 1926 by B.J. Palmer (son of D.D. Palmer, the Founder of chiropractic) the ICA represents thousands of practitioners, educators, students and lay persons dedicated to the chiropractic profession. As a professional society it is dedicated to the promotion of the highest professional, technical and ethical standards for the chiropractic profession and to organize and mobilize Doctors of Chiropractic across the United States and around the world in efforts to bring chiropractic to high esteem and recognition as a major contributor to human health.

The ICA has traditionally been and continues to be recognized as representing the moderate voice of the chiropractic profession. The ICA represents and promotes the interests of chiropractic, chiropractors and the patients they serve through advocacy, research, and education. The ICA works with vigilance and dedication to preserve and sustain chiropractic as a separate and distinct health care profession, dedicated to providing a drugless, natural, alternative healing methodology, based on the fundamental principles of chiropractic. The ICA fosters the professional and technical development of the Doctor of Chiropractic, and through programs of continuing education, technical research and development, political and social action and public health activities, seeks to maximize the personal and professional fulfillment of the chiropractor, within the traditional principles and values of the chiropractic profession. The ICA holds that chiropractic is that philosophy, science and art which utilizes the inherent recuperative powers of the body, and deals with the relationship between the nervous system and the spinal column, including other skeletal articulations, and the role of this relationship in the restoration and maintenance of health.

Throughout its long history, the International Chiropractors Association has sought to educate and inform the public, other health care professions and health policy makers on the principles and definitions of chiropractic in order to foster a broader understanding and acceptance of the profession. The ICA has also established standards of ethical, technical and professional excellence as guideposts for the Doctor of Chiropractic.
